INTRODUCTION

The research community currently faces the most challenging issues of plagiarism. Although plagiarism is known for centuries, the widespread use of computers and the advent of the Internet made it relatively easy to plagiarize other's work. Duplication happens sometimes when our writings match someone else's writing style. Plagiarism mostly happens due to the rise in the number of websites and blogs. Many times our writing styles match influential article we have recently read. Whatever may be the cause of duplication, it is always a pain for both the ends. That is why, it is of great necessity to put a check on plagiarism. This paper will take you through the best online plagiarism checker tools and services that can be used to detect duplication of contents and create original articles.

Plagiarism is increasing day by day and has become a worldwide problem. This is mainly because of the increase in the number of online publications. We can compare the given document with the target/original document using plagiarism detection technique Plagiarism detection is now as easy as plagiarizing a document. A number of anti-plagiarism softwares used to detect plagiarism are available either freely or commercially. It is not affordable for an individual to purchase the software because as the commercial ones are too expensive. This paper discussed about the plagiarism detection software that can be freely downloaded.

WHAT IS PLAGIARISM?

Plagiarism Meaning

Plagiarism is borrowed from the Latin language, meaning "to kidnap." According to the Merriam Webster Online Dictionary, plagiarism means

- To snatch and pass off the words and ideas of another as one's own idea.

- Use another's work without crediting the source.
- To commit classical or scholarly theft.
- Presenting as new or original idea or product derived from an existing source.

Plagiarism essentially means “imitation of someone else’s work,” without giving the real writer his credits.

Plagiarism Types

Based on their detection difficulty, plagiarism can be divided into about 15 types (Park, 2004; Hire math & Otari, 2014;) as listed below.

- Clone plagiarism: Taking someone else’s work entirely.
- Copy-and-paste plagiarism: Copying large parts of someone else’s work.
- Re-tweets plagiarism: Contains correctly quoted text but relies too much on someone else’s work.
- Recycle or auto plagiarism: Publishing the same work many times.
- Find-replace or word-switch plagiarism: Using synonyms for words in someone else’s work.
- Hybrid plagiarism: Combining judiciously quoted and unquoted parts of someone else’s text.
- Mash up plagiarism: Copying material from different sources.
- Error plagiarism: Using incorrect citation.
- Aggregator plagiarism: No originality in the work, although it contains references to the original work.
- Style plagiarism: Paraphrasing to the extent that the original text is unrecognizable, but the structure of both documents is similar (essential schemes, main arguments, or examples coincide).
- Translation plagiarism: Translating someone else’s work into another language.
- Idea plagiarism: The main idea of the work is not original, but it is masked by the plagiarist’s knowledge.
- Graphics plagiarism: Using a figure or a picture without permission.
- Source-code plagiarism: Taking the source code in computer programming.
- Ghost write plagiarism: Contracting another person or website to produce the work for someone.
